The Future of Independent Living for Children, Adults, and Seniors

During the past two years we all have experienced significant changes in our communities. These include increased physical, attitudinal and communication access during the 20 Years of the Americans with Disabilities Act and with the Olmstead Supreme Court decision. Recently we have seen the increase in collaboration under the Aging and Disability Resource Consortium of the Greater North Shore providing more integrated access to long term services and supports. We have also seen dramatic economic pressures due to the global and national banking and budgetary dilemmas. With the aging of our population and the increased numbers of adults nationally in nursing homes, we need to confront how we are insuring that independent living remains a viable option for those living with disabilities of all ages and seniors. Join with us and our municipal, state and federal government Leaders from the North Shore and Cape Ann to focus on where we are and how do we keep self-determination and choice in our futures.

Presentation of Awards for Independent Living Advocacy will also occur.
